Agency Name:

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL CSTLTS

Description:

CDC announces a new cooperative agreement for eligible American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) federally recognized tribal nations and/or regional tribally designated organizations. This cooperative agreement is intended to provide resources to eligible entities as they improve the public health of AI/AN communities. This program's purpose is to strengthen the quality, performance, and infrastructure of tribal public health systems, including workforce, data and information systems, and programs and services. This program's ultimate outcome is to improve public health outcomes and health inequities. Recipients will work toward improving the quality, performance, and infrastructure of tribal public health systems and increasing health equity within AI/AN communities.
